Forest Honey – 100% Pure

We provide high-quality Rwanda honey to the local and export markets. We source the raw fresh honey from family growers and processors in Rwanda.

Rwanda honey is unique for coming from tropical equatorial forests lush with eucalyptus and other trees that make the bees' product natural. Most of these forestlands are not cultivated and thus stay free of pesticides, making the honey low-residual and impurity-free. Indeed, most of the country's honey is from wild bees. It features in traditional beer but the country exports it for food preservation and industrial uses. The nation has around 90,000 beekeepers. The European Union gave Rwanda the go-ahead to ship the product directly in 2014 due to the country's chemical-free beekeeping practices.
